Mag Martin Mühlbacher

VP Jenbacher Operations & Executive Site Leader

INNIO Jenbacher

Austria

Biography

Martin Mühlbacher leads Supply Chain operations with more than 1.000+ employees.

In his role as VP Jenbacher Operations, Martin is responsible for Supply Chain strategy, operational sourcing, logistics, and manufacturing. He oversees the production chain functions from assembly and testing to repair and overhaul. As Executive Site Leader, he leads the functions of Infrastructure & Maintenance, Materials Management, Logistics, Quality, Inventory, and EHS as well as the apprenticeship program and the Lean-Green-Digital program. He also acts as the point of contact to such external stakeholders as the Austrian Chamber of Commerce, the industry union, and other regional public institutions.

Martin started his INNIO career in 1997 as a planner and buyer for Jenbacher engine parts, such as castings and forgings. Prior joining INNIO, he worked as design engineer in a local Tyrolean mid-size company.

Martin holds a degree in Mechanical Engineering and a master's degree in business management and supply chain management from the University of Innsbruck, Management Center Innsbruck (MCI) in Austria.

Company Profile

INNIO is a leading energy solution and service provider that empowers industries and communities to make sustainable energy work today.
